

Week Ending: May 17, 2019

Top Stories This Week

Citing Concerns From NASA, Senators Urge FCC To Rein In 5G Expansion

Two senators this week urged the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to rein in the expansion of next-generation wireless into high-band spectrum, citing concerns from NASA and other scientific organizations. (zdnet.com)

Facebook Should Be Punished, Not Broken Up

There's a new clarion call in the tech industry: It's time to break up Facebook. (cnet.com)

Products & Services

AT&T CEO: We'll Pull TV Shows, Movies From Rivals As We Launch New Netflix-Like Service

AT&T chief executive Randall Stephenson said Tuesday that the company will pull popular TV shows and movies from streaming rivals and "bring that content back into the fold" as it launches its own Netflix-like video service. (dallasnews.com)

Microsoft Launches Decentralized Identity Tool On Bitcoin Blockchain

Microsoft is launching the first decentralized infrastructure implementation by a major tech company that is built directly on the bitcoin blockchain. (coindesk.com)

Emerging Technology

Nike's App Will Use Augmented Reality To Determine Your Shoe Size

Do you know your own shoe size? You might think you do, but there's a good chance you're walking around in shoes that aren't actually a perfect fit. (bgr.com)

Mergers, Acquisitions, & Partnerships

Fujitsu, Veeam Partner On Simplified Backup And Recovery

Fujitsu and Veeam are focusing on simplifying backup and recovery for customers running mission-critical virtual machines in the data centre. (it-online.co.za)

Disney To Buy Comcast's Hulu Stake And Take Full Control Of Streaming Service

Walt Disney Company has agreed to acquire Comcast's one-third stake in Hulu and to take full control of the streaming service, the companies said on Tuesday. (nytimes.com)

Industry Reports

Eye On A.I.— Why Hardware Is So Important To A.I.'S Future

Using artificial intelligence isn't just about software. Companies are quickly realizing that the hardware it runs on and is trained on is also critical. (fortune.com)

Supreme Court Deals Apple Major Setback In App Store Antitrust Case

Supreme Court on Monday ruled 5-4 against Apple, saying iPhone users can pursue their antitrust lawsuit involving the tech giant's signature electronic marketplace, the App Store. (cnbc.com)