

KS&R's DIGITAL DISPATCH

Week Ending: September 06, 2019

Top Stories This Week

Google, YouTube To Pay \$170 Million Penalty Over Collecting Kids' Personal Info

Google and its YouTube subsidiary will pay $170 million to settle allegations that YouTube collected personal information from children without their parents' consent, the Federal Trade Commission said Wednesday. (npr.org)

The Worlds Of AI And Blockchain Are Colliding

Nowadays just about everyone understands the importance of data. (forbes.com)

Products & Services

Samsung's New Exynos 980 Processor Has A 5G Modem Built In

Samsung has announced its next in-house processor, the Exynos 980, at IFA 2019. (theverge.com)

iOS 13 Code Suggests Apple's Exciting New AR Glasses Might Launch Sooner Than We Thought

Apple will unveil the iPhone 11 series next week, likely alongside new Apple Watch models, but these aren't the only new iOS products the company is developing. (bgr.com)

Emerging Technology

First Long-Distance Heart Surgery Performed Via Robot

A doctor in India has performed a series of five percutaneous coronary intervention (PCI) procedures on patients who were 20 miles away from him. (zdnet.com)

Bosch's Electric Stroller Tech Helps Carry Your Baby Uphill

It's not just grown-ups that might appreciate electrified transport. (engadget.com)

Mergers, Acquisitions, & Partnerships

American Tower Inks New MLA Deal With AT&T

American Tower has inked a new multi-year master lease agreement (MLA) with AT&T, and separately bolstered its U.S. portfolio, closing an acquisition of 400 towers. (fiercewireless.com)

Industry Reports

The FCC Has Spent Over \$5.7 Billion to Expand Rural Internet Access So Far This Year

In April, we reported about the FCC plan for bringing high speed internet access to 106,000 rural homes and businesses in 2019. (cordcuttersnews.com)

Here's One Way A Blockchain Could Deliver A Smarter City

The traditional way of banking as most of us know it sees a bank maintain a private ledger that contains the account balance of each of its customers and a record of any transactions. (rte.ie)